Established and Emerging Phytophthora: Increasing Threats to Woodland and Forest Ecosystems in Europe

FIRST WORKING GROUPS MEETING

April 16 to 19, 2009

Nový Smokovec, Slovakia

Announcement

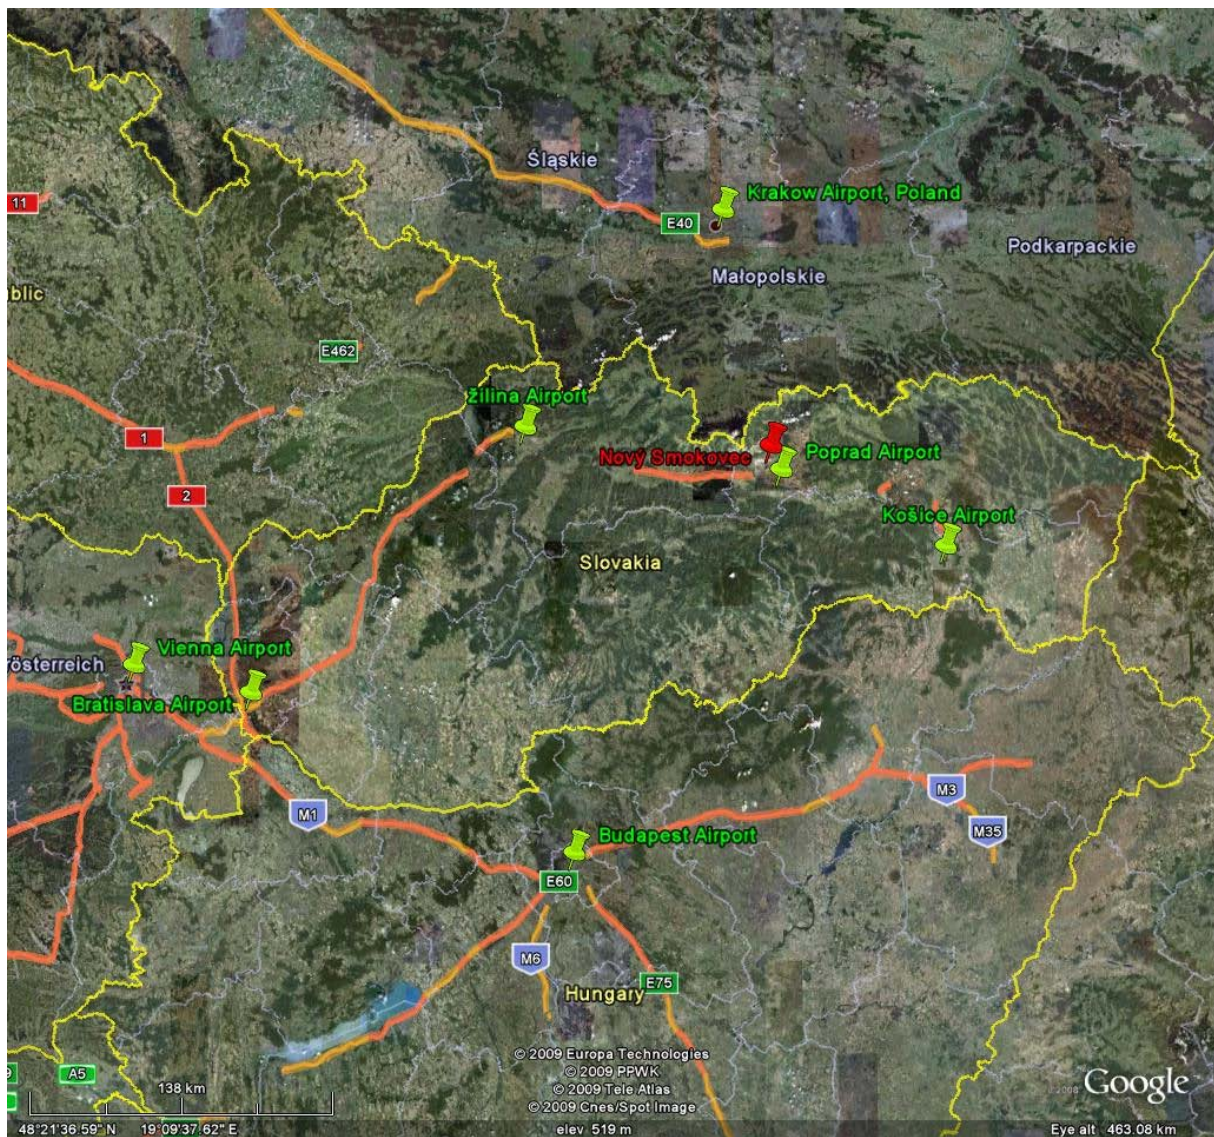

Dear colleagues,

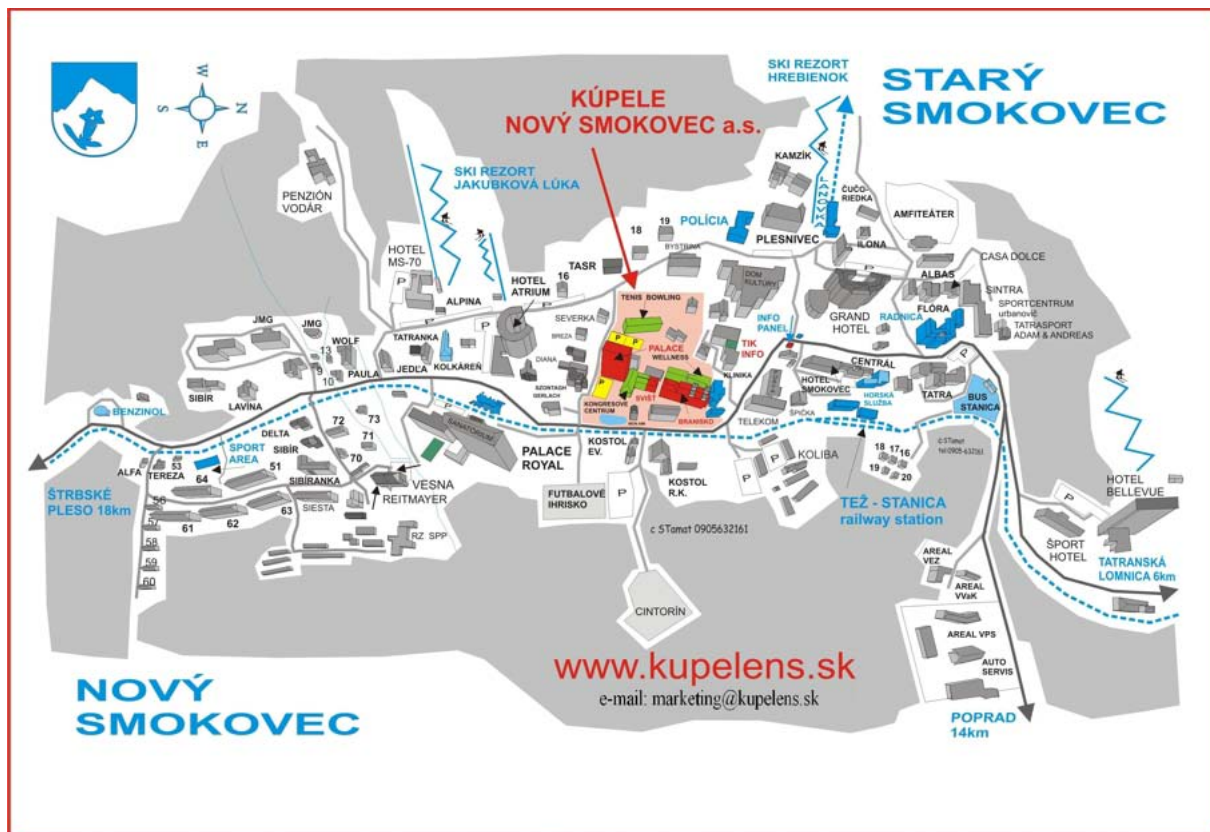

We have the honour to invite you to take part in workshop on COST Action FP0801: Established and Emerging Phytophthora: Increasing Threats to Woodland and Forest Ecosystems in Europe.

LOCATION OF THE WORKSHOP

- Nový Smokovec, Slovakia

GPS
49° 08' 17,95" N
20° 13' 03,58" E

Conference will be held directly in the central part of the oldest Slovak national park – Tatra National Park, in hotel Kúpele (Spa) Nový Smokovec, a.s. situated in the elevation of 1010 m a.s.l. Spa Nový Smokovec belongs amongst the most climatic spas in Slovakia. The spa provides stays with healing procedures for the clients of health insurance companies, as well as for individual customers.

The village Nový Smokovec is situated under the Slavkovský štít peak and was found by Dr. Mikuláš Szontagh (1843-1899). He hired 20 ha of land from Veľký Slavkov village in 1875 in order to build a climatic spa.

The High Tatras are the highest mountains in Slovakia. Twenty peaks are over 2400 m and 35 clear mountain lakes are scattered amongst them. The snow covers mountains 200 - 250 days a year. There are about 1300 species of vascular plants, many are glacial relics. The important animal species include chamois, marmot, brown bear, lynx, eagle and wolf.

The catastrophic windthrow attacked High Tatras region at the end of 2004, when 12 000 ha of forest were totally destroyed during few minutes (2.3 millions of m³ of timber damaged). That situation established an exceptional condition for study of the post calamity forest ecosystems development and increases a large areas bark beetle outbreak.
